

FIREMEN HOAXED BY FALSE ALARMS

Three in One Night Keep
Them and Police
Busy.

Three false alarms of fire were sent in by an unidentified person early this morning, and kept the department busy in the southwest and northeast sections of the city for a couple of hours. The police have been unable to obtain any clue to the identity of the perpetrator of the hoax.

The first alarm came in from a box at Third and E streets southwest at 12:15. The companies in that part of the city and the reserves of the Fourth police precinct responded.

There was not a sign of a blaze in the neighborhood, and an investigation by the police developed that no one knew who was responsible for calling out the department.

The engine companies were just back at headquarters when a second alarm came in from a box in E street. The horses had not been unhitched, and all the drivers had to do was turn around and start on a second run.

Again there was no fire, and the person who had sent in the alarm could not be found. The firemen went back to their respective houses, wondering if there was going to be a continuous performance. The police got busy and stationed men at all the fire alarm boxes in the southwest.

Changed His Location.
Two hours later a false alarm was sounded from the box in front of the Casualty Hospital, in Massachusetts avenue northeast. This time the companies in the northeast responded, and the reserves from the Ninth precinct hurried to the scene, as it was supposed the fire was in the hospital, which is an old frame building.

But there was no fire. Nobody in the hospital knew who was responsible for the alarm, and the companies went home.

T. B. PENICKS FILES BANKRUPTCY PAPERS

He is an usher employed by the Washington Terminal Company.

FOUND UNDER BED; JAILED AS BURGLAR

George Harris, Carpenter,
Captured in the Home of Mrs. W. H. Richards.

George Harris, forty-five years old, a carpenter, of 134 Wisconsin avenue, was locked up today at the Ninth precinct police station on a charge of house-breaking.

When Mrs. William H. Richards, of 124 Eleventh street northeast, went to her bedroom last evening, she saw a man's foot protruding from beneath the bed. With presence of mind, Mrs. Richards remarked she had left her eyeglasses downstairs, and hurriedly went out of the room. Going to the telephone, she called up the Ninth precinct station, and Patrolman Broderick was sent around to the house.

The bluecoat dragged Harris from under the bed, and took him to the station, where he was identified as the intruder who had been found in the home of Patrick Rafeady, 119 C street northeast, earlier in the evening. Harris was standing in the dining room, when a servant girl entered. Picking up a bottle, he struck her over the head and escaped.

Harris, the police say, had been hanging around a saloon in the neighborhood for several days, and was under the influence of liquor when arrested. He entered the houses by the front doors, which had been left unlocked. He will be arraigned in the Police Court tomorrow.

COURTED IN AERO, WILL WED AVIATOR

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 16.—A courtship that took place for the most part high in the air, in a passenger carrying Blériot monoplane, has ended in the announcement of the engagement of Count Jacques de Lesseps, the aviator, to Miss Grace MacKenzie, daughter of the millionaire president of the Canadian Northern railroad and the Toronto Railroad Company.

De Lesseps, a relative of the builder of the Suez canal, met Miss MacKenzie when he was flying at Toronto last July. Miss MacKenzie was his passenger on several flights there and later at Belmont Park, New York.
